Bulbs for Fall Planting

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR PLANTING

WATER CULTURE.—This method of flowering is always interesting. Single Hyacinths are easily grown in glasses of water, and special Hyacinth glasses can be obtained at 40c to 50c each from us. They are simply filled with fresh, pure water, and the bulb rests in a cup-shaped receptacle on top of the glass. The water should barely come up to the roots of the bulb. Put in a cool, dark, airy place, until the roots have grown to the bottom of the vase; as the water evaporates, fill the vase, and change the water occasionally in order to keep it pure and fresh. After rooting, place the vases in a light, cool room until the foliage is well developed, after which they may be put in a light, sunny window, soon after which the flowers will appear. Narcissus and Sacred Lilies may all be grown in the same way, in glass bowls partly filled with pebbles and sand.

FORCING IN POTS.—In potting, use light, rich, rather sandy soil. A combination of about one-third each of sand, top soil from old pastures and well rotted cow manure makes the best potting soil. Leave about one-third of the bulb above the surface of soil in the pot in planting. Then plunge the pots about six inches deep in sandy soil or else put away in cellars or dark closet for five or six weeks. Keep moist, but not wet. At the end of six weeks the bulbs will have rooted well and, when pots are placed in a warm, sunny situation, they come in bloom rapidly. Dutch Hyacinths and Paperwhite Narcissus are especially valuable for this purpose.

OUTDOOR PLANTING.—For bulbs to bloom in late Winter and early Spring they should be planted from October 1st to January 1st. Our personal preference is November 15th to December 15th. Plant in deep, rich soil or one that has been well fertilized with well rotted manure, cow manure being preferable if obtainable. Do not, under any circumstances, use fresh manure so that it comes in contact with the bulbs, as it is injurious. Set the bulbs (except the small bulbs, such as Crocus) so that the crown of the bulb is three or four inches below the surface of the soil. After planting, the soil should be firmed.

Lagomarsino's Imported Tulips

It is difficult to conceive of anything more brilliant in color than a bed of good Tulips. Their great variety of color, intense brilliancy and beautiful shading make them universal favorites. Another consideration in their favor is the ease with which they can be cultivated, only requiring good, common garden soil to grow them to perfection. There are no bulbs which make such a rich and gorgeous display of blossom with so little care and cultivation. The culture of the Tulips is the same as that of Hyacinths, except that the bulbs should be planted about 5 inches deep and 6 to 8 inches apart.

Polyanthus

PAPERWHITE NARCISSUS

This is the most satisfactory flower that can be grown in the house for Winter blooming. They will bloom in water and rocks from six to eight weeks from time of planting, and are superior to Chinese Lilies. The flowers are larger, more attractive in color and very fragrant. A very unique, simple and novel way to grow this variety of Narcissus is to place six to eight bulbs in a shallow glass or china bowl with water; support the bulbs with pebbles or gravel as you would the Chinese Lily and place the bowl in the dark until the roots have started, when you should bring them to the light. The water requires changing occasionally to keep it pure. Do not add cold water, see that it is slightly warm. Planted any time in September or October and they can be easily brought into flower by Christmas. They can also be planted any time in January in glass bowls and will bloom in six weeks.

Outdoor Culture—Plant bulbs 4 or 5 inches deep, 6 to 8 inches apart. See inside front cover for general planting instruction

ORNATUS—A much improved form of the ordinary Poeticus, producing larger flowers and appearing two weeks earlier. Beautiful pure-white flowers, cup yellow-edged deep red. 75c Doz., $5.00 per 100.

Among the Bulbs that bloom well in bowls of water for indoor and Winter decoration, the Hyacinths and Polyanthus Narcissus are the most popular.

The Polyanthus Narcissus are especially desirable for house culture, because they are so easy to grow and are sure bloomers. In the Polyanthus class are the paperwhite Narcissus, Grand Soleil d'Or and the Chinese Sacred Lilies. All these do well in bowls of water with pebbles to hold the Bulbs firm.

The paperwhite Narcissus produces fragrant white star-shaped flowers, and is the variety grown extensively by commercial flower growers for use in the floral shops.

The Chinese Sacred Lilies also produce fragrant white flowers, but with a distinct yellow center. Any of these are easily grown in bowls and anyone can grow them to perfection with just ordinary care.

SWEET PEAS

Cultural Directions

For early Spring flowers, sow Sweet Peas in the Fall, October, November and December. For late flowering they can be planted any time during the Winter or Spring. Prepare the ground by working from eighteen to twenty-four inches deep. Give the ground liberal dressing of manure and bone meal.

Set the seeds not over two inches deep and two inches apart on a firm bed; do not plant seeds in loose soil. When the plants are out of the ground, thin from six to twelve inches apart. Give the young plants good support, so they can climb four to six feet high—in this way they produce nice, long stems. In hot weather, water frequently. For large flowers apply liquid manure about once a week. Pick flowers daily (even poorest flowers) as this prolongs the flowering season.

STOCK, EARLY GIANT IMPERIAL

Lagomarsino's Select Perennials, Alpine and Rock Garden Plants

Many not thoroughly familiar with perennial plants, have an idea that only field grown clumps will give satisfactory results. In almost every instance this is a mistake. From our experience, we have found that a vigorous pot-grown plant in nearly every case will give quicker and better results than the best so-called "Field Clumps". The majority of our perennial plants are pot grown, and can be planted throughout the year with practically no loss, which, if clumps were planted during the late Spring and Summer months, would mean serious losses.

NOTE—Plants marked * are suitable for rock gardens. Plants marked ‡ are suitable for cut flowers.

FIELD CROPS FOR FALL SOWING

LADINO, or Italian Giant Clover

Since its introduction several years ago the acreage planted in Ladino Clover has steadily increased. Dairymen find it is an excellent pasture clover that not only increases the milk flow but it stands "pasteurizing" very well. Poultrymen also find in Ladino "succulent greens" for the Chickens, producing heavily practically all the year and its use among poultrymen is also increasing. Ladino yields heavily especially on the shallow clay or heavy soils. It grows as luxuriantly on these soils as on the rich soils. Where alfalfa does poorly on shallow soils the possibilities of Ladino Clover should not be overlooked. The Fall is the best time to sow Ladino. It requires less care when sown in the Fall and it will be ready to pasture much earlier than Spring Sown Seed. Five pounds will sow an acre. Lb. $1.00, 2 Lbs. $1.80, 5 Lbs. $4.00, postpaid. (Write for quantity prices.)

Cover Seed Crops

The growing of Cover Crops or Green manuring Crops is recognized as important in building up soils. There are many benefits to be derived by plowing under Cover Crops. They add valuable nitrogen to the soil besides incorporating humus which aids in loosening heavy soils and improves the light soils and aids the water-holding capacity of these soils. These crops are also valuable in preventing soils from washing during the winter months.

BURR CLOVER—(Medicago Denticulata)—A native Clover which when once established reseeds itself. Thrives on very poor soils. Lb. 25c, 10 Lbs. $2.00. (Write for quantity prices.)

TRIESTE MUSTARD—Grown as a Cover Crop for quite some time in the southern part of the State and does exceptionally well in this section. Preferred by many on account of the strong growth it makes in the Winter and allowing early plowing in the Spring. Lb. 20c, 10 Lbs. $1.50. (Write for quantity prices.)

SMALL SEEDED HORSE BEANS—Yields heavily a coarse growth which is desired for heavy soils; also preferred by many on account of its not being affected to a great extent to spray damage. Lb. 15c, 10 Lbs. $1.25. (Write for quantity prices.)

WHITE BLOSSOM SWEET CLOVER (Melilotus Alba)—A Biennial. Roots deeply 3 to 5 feet. Popular in some sections as a soil renovator and also for pasture. Lb. 25c, 10 Lbs. $2.00. (Write for quantity prices.)

MELILOTUS INDICA—A very popular Clover for Cover Crops, used extensively by orchardists and vineyardists. It is very hardy, makes a rapid growth and yields a large tonnage of organic matter. Lb. 25c, 10 Lbs. $2.00. (Write for quantity prices.)

CANADIAN FIELD PEAS—Very valuable for Cover Crops, suitable for heavy soils. 15c lb., 10 lbs. $1.25. Write for quantity prices.)

AUSTRIAN WINTER PEAS—Very hardy variety of peas, producing strong growth and heavy tonnage. In the Southern states this is gradually replacing many other varieties for Cover Crop purposes and does well in this section. Lb. 15c, 10 Lbs. $1.25. (Write for quantity prices.)

COMMON OR OREGON—Planted more extensively in this section than any other, both for feed and plowing under. Lb. 15c, 10 Lbs. $1.00. (Write for quantity prices.)

PURPLE VETCH—Preferred by many on account of its strong growth. Lb. 15c, 10 Lbs. $1.25. (Write for quantity prices.)

HAIRY OR WINTER—Also called Sand Vetch. This does better than any other on light or sandy soils and makes good growth in cold weather. Lb. 20c, 10 Lbs. $1.75. (Write for quantity prices.)

COMMON MUSTARD OR CALIFORNIA RAPE—On some types of soil where it is not possible to secure a stand of more desirable Cover Crops this is used to good advantage. Makes a strong growth during the winter and is ready to plow under early. Lb. 10c, 10 Lbs. 75c. (Write for quantity prices.)

LAWN GRASS SEED

A smooth, velvety lawn surrounding a house adds not only to the value, but enhances the enjoyment of every home. The most important thing to consider in selecting seed for a lawn is to obtain a mixture of several varieties properly blended. By properly choosing early, medium and late Grasses in a mixture, a smooth, even green lawn is assured from early spring to late autumn. We especially recommend Lagomarsino's Lawn Mixture for a beautiful lawn, and all our other Grasses as being of the highest grade, thoroughly cleaned and tested, and especially adapted for their purpose.

Sow at the rate of one pound for 150 to 200 square feet, according to variety of Grass.

A lawn to be beautiful must be kept in good condition. First of all, grass is a gross feeder and it must be fed continually. Periodic dressings of fertilizer are needed, even if the lawn looks and is growing well. Under trees the grass has a constant battle for nourishment. Often grass dies under trees—not from shade but from soil impoverishment. It pays to feed both the grass and the trees. We recommend the application of our Bearmor on lawns. It is a well balanced plant food and if the lawn is given a dressing of this in the spring and several applications made during the summer it will give excellent results.

LAGOMARSINO'S LAWN MIXTURE—A mixture of several deep green grasses blended so that they remain green from early Spring until late Autumn. It makes a beautiful turf of dark green color and stands hard usage. We especially recommend this grass for those desiring beautiful lawns. Lb. 40c; 10 lbs. $3.50.

LAGOMARSINO'S SERVICE STATION MIXTURE—This is a special mixture of grasses that has become so popular for planting around service stations in this city. It grows rapidly and makes a fine turf of a deep green color the year around. Per lb. 30c; 10 lbs. $2.50.

SHADY NOOK LAWN GRASS—This is adapted for semi-shaded places and where the ordinary lawn grasses will not do well. Lb. 50c; 10 lbs. $4.00.

KENTUCKY BLUE GRASS—Makes an excellent lawn of a dark green color. It forms a fine matt, with care and water makes one of the best lawns. Per lb. 30c; 10 lbs. $2.50.

PERENNIAL OR AUSTRALIAN RYE GRASS—A rapid-growing grass of dark green color, but a little coarse. Especially adapted for very light soils. Per lb. 30c; 10 lbs. $2.50.

LAGOMARSINO'S SHADY LAWN MIXTURE—This grass is especially adapted for growing in very shady places or near buildings where other grasses will not grow. If you have a shady, barren place, try our Shady Lawn Mixture. Per lb. 75c; 10 lbs. $6.00.

WHITE DUTCH CLOVER—A dwarf growing clover, especially adapted for lawns, either alone or in mixture with other grasses. Lb. 50c; 10 lbs. $4.50.

GOLDEN GATE LAWN MIXTURE—A special mixture of hardy grasses especially suited for places where it will endure hard usage. Lb. 35c; 10 lbs. $3.00.

CLOVERS

Ladino or Italian Giant Clover

Since its introduction several years ago, the acreage planted to Ladino has steadily increased. Dairymen find in Ladino a clover that increases the milk flow of their cows and stands pasteurizing well. It also grows on many types of soil where alfalfa does not do well. On these clay or shallow soils, Ladino grows as luxuriantly as on the rich river bottom soils. Poultrymen also find Ladino a succulent feed for chickens, producing heavily practically the entire year its succulent greens. All classes of stock are very fond of Ladino and prefer it to other clovers and grasses.

Planting in the fall is highly recommended because a stand is easily secured and fall-planted seed is ready to pasture much earlier than spring-sown seed. 5 lbs. will sow an acre.

NOTE ABOUT LADINO CLOVER

There has appeared on the market a type of large white clover which is being sold as Ladino Clover. While this type of white clover is larger than the regular strain of white Dutch Clover, it does not grow as large as the True Ladino Clover. The Ladino grows taller and larger in all its parts and the ultimate production per acre of the Ladino is very much greater.

ITALIAN DRY LAND PASTURE AND HAY LEGUME

This new forage plant is especially adapted for dry land farming. It is a perennial legume and will give a good tonnage of either hay or pasture. It stools heavily and grows up to 3 feet high. Being a legume, its feed value is high and compares with any of the best clovers.

When established, the growing season is from the first rains in the fall to well into the summer months, depending mainly on late spring rains for a long growing season. The chief advantages of this new introduction is that it gives abundant green feed during the winter months when it is so much desired on lands that would not be near as productive otherwise.

Sow 5 lbs. per acre, lb. $2.50; 10 lbs. @ $2.25 per lb.

ESPARCETTE OR SAINFOIN

In Europe this legume is used extensively especially on poor lands where it yields heavily and it make an excellent feed comparing with alfalfa in feed value. It will last for years when established and should be an excellent plant for some of the poor lands and barren hills. In Europe it is also considered valuable as a soil renovator. Sow 15 to 25 lbs. per acre. 1 lb. 50c; 10 lbs. $4.00.

GRASSES

Grasses form an important part in the production of forage and their adaptability for certain purposes should not be overlooked. The planting of Rye Grass along with Ladino Clover is strongly recommended. It affords good roughage for stock and minimizes the danger of bloat. Sow 8 to 10 lbs. per acre along with the Ladino recommended.

THE GARDEN OF FLAVORS

The Herbs that are considered necessary for kitchen use to make appetizing dishes are very easily grown in the garden. Most of them can be secured in plants which saves the effort of growing them from seed.

Among the plants that we have are: Rosemary, Sage, Thyme, Sweet Marjoram and Tarragon. The Rosemary can be planted as a shrub, as it is an attractive plant, when used for this purpose.

When established, the Herbs last for years and requires very little attention, aside from cutting out old growth when they get too "woody".

Chives also come in the class of flavoring plants, and these come in clumps which, when established, last for years.

Parsley is another important flavoring plant, and this can be grown easily from seed, and the Fall is a good time to sow a Parsley bed.

Any of the above Herb plants can be planted in the Fall.

THE WINTER VEGETABLE GARDEN

October and November is the last call for sowing many varieties of vegetables for the winter garden. On some of the varieties it is past time as they will not develop for winter use but will come up for early spring use. The following can be planted now. Some of the quick-developing varieties will be ready for winter use, such as Spinach, Beets, Lettuce, Mustard, Turnips, Chicory, Chinese Cabbage, etc.
